Love of music keeps family duo in tune

FROM pop to punk rock, Madi and Andrew Hopper are crazy about music.

The dad and daughter duo team up each fortnight for Musically Speaking, a Mt Gravatt music club with themed meetings such as world music, country and soundtracks.

"Being able to do something as a father and daughter team is wonderful," Mr Hopper said.

"We have robust discussions in the car and at home about different musicians and bands.

"Madi has introduced me to new stuff too, I'm a big fan of Iggy Azalea now.

"I grew up in the Countdown era and I remember watching it every Saturday," he said.

"Now we watch Music Max when Madi gets home from work on a weekend."

Madi Hopper and dad Andrew have bonded through music and are team members in Musically Speaking.
